MINI MERMAID TALES

#1: THE FRIENDSHIP WISH

#2: THE DOLPHIN DREAM

By Debbie Dadey
Illustrated by Fuji Takashi
Imprint: Aladdin

This new QUIX chapter book series is a spin-off of the popular Mermaid Tales, featuring the younger merkids of Trident City in deep-sea adventures.

In The Friendship Wish, Rosie is a little mermaid who loves dancing with dolphins and building towering sandcastles. But she's just moved to Trident City and doesn't have one single friend to join her. She's too young to go to Trident Academy with her cousin, her parents are busy at work, and her nanny can be kind of boring. Then Rosie meets Aqua and finds that having a new friend might be more trouble than it's worth!

In The Dolphin Dream, Aqua Wave is a young mermaid who dreams of riding a wild dolphin, her very favorite ocean creature. Everyone from her older sister to her friends at her new school keep telling Aqua it's too dangerous and she will get hurt, but Aqua is determined to make her dream come true!

#3: SEJAL SINHA DIVES FOR DIAMONDS ON NEPTUNE

By Maya Prasad

Illustrated by Abira Das

Imprint: Aladdin

The Magic School Bus* meets Over the Moon in this new chapter book series about a young Indian American girl who loves science and has a big imagination!

In the first book, Sejal Sinha is looking forward to celebrating Diwali with her family. But when a hurricane appears, Sejal and her cousin Mira learn that the house is in danger from the imminent storm. They learn about a project from the 1960s called Project Stormfury, where a team actually tried to stop hurricanes. With the help of Sejal's favorite stuffed animal, Professor Cheetah, the two girls use Cardboard Box Magic to build their own Hurricane Hunter and fly into the eye of the hurricane!

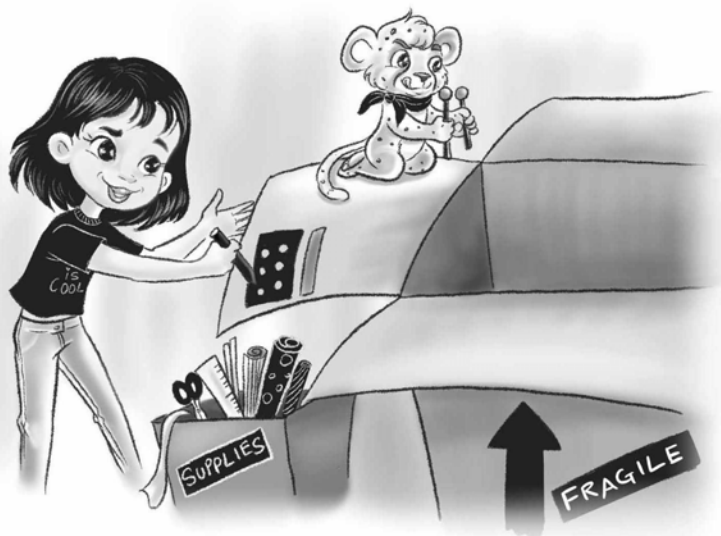

In book two, Sejal and her brother go to the beach and discover a small blue creature washed up onshore. It's a blue dragon! Despite its name, it doesn't breathe fire—but it is fearless, preying on much bigger animals. Sejal is ready to see the blue dragon in action. She hopes she can learn more about how the small but mighty blue dragon might help her face a class bully. With a submarine powered by Imagination Fuel, she plunges into an underseas adventure.

In the third book, Sejal's cousin is working on a big science project. When Sejal and her cousin find out that there may be actual diamond rain on Neptune, Sejal knows it's the perfect next adventure! With the help of her cousin, Professor Cheetah, and a lot of imagination, Sejal can't wait to go on another out-of-this-world adventure. But getting to Neptune is a little harder than she thought. . . .

THE EXPETS

By Mark Tatulli
Imprint: Caitlyn Dlouhy Books

The wacky humor of Captain Underpants meets the furry shenanigans of Dog Man in this hilarious new graphic novel series featuring a reluctant dog, thousands of missing kittens, and a lot of STINK!

Bosco looooves being a house pet. He loves his comfy dog bed, his nice big house, and of course his favorite stuffed toy kitty. So when two burglars break in, Bosco defends his home with all his might. And with his superstretchy legs and some well-timed stink, he makes quick work of them, and all seems well again, until . . . what's this? A robot descending from the sky? A robot taking Bosco to the Big City, and telling him he's been chosen to be part of an extraordinary league called the eXperts? Bosco isn't sure that being supremely stretchy and stinky makes him extraordinary. Plus, these other eXperts—a mangy cat, a ruffled hamster, a goldfish (really, a goldfish?!)—don't look like much. Besides, who needs that kind of pressure? Blech. Thanks, but no thanks, he'd rather be home in his comfy bed. But when he finds out the first mission has to do with a mysterious force that has captured all the world's kittens, how can Bosco possibly say no?

THE GREAT PUPTECTIVE

By Alina Tysoe
Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

From Alina Tysoe, webcomic superstar and creator of the comic series What's Up, Beanie?, comes a new young graphic novel series with characters that pop right off the page, perfect for fans of InvestiGators and Agent Moose.

Truffles the Cat enjoys nothing more than peace and quiet. As the only pet in the house, his main job is to find the best place to take a nice long nap, preferably in a spot of warm sunshine.

But that was before Poppy burst onto the scene.

Poppy is loud, enthusiastic, and excitable, as all puppies tend to be, but she's also no ordinary puppy. Oh, no, Poppy is . . . a PUPTECTIVE! She's got an eye for crime and a nose to solve any and all mysteries that come her way—like, for example, the mystery of what a “mystery” is exactly anyway.

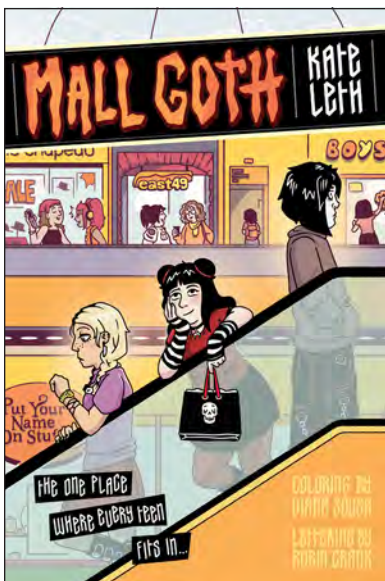

Now, with Truffles's precious me-time so rudely disrupted, he makes it his mission to trap Poppy so that he could be rid of her once and for all. Will his plan to ship her to the North Pole be a success? Or will Truffles discover that he and Poppy can actually be good friends and even mystery-solving partners?

MALL GOTH

By Kate Leth

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

The Perks of Being a Wallflower meets Laura Dean Keeps Breaking Up with Me in this coming-of-age graphic novel about a goth teen in the 2000s who has to navigate new friendships, new bullies, and new experiences when she and her mom move towns.

Liv Holme is not exactly thrilled to be moving to a new town with her mother. After all, high school can be brutal, even more so when you're a fifteen-year-old, bisexual goth. But Liv is determined to be who she is, bullies or not.

Thankfully, she's found the one place that makes the move worth it—a mall. As she navigates new friendships, Liv learns that sometimes people will surprise you and that first judgments can't always be trusted.

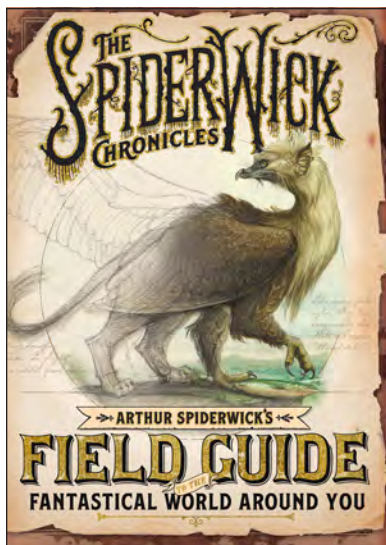

From acclaimed comic artist Kate Leth comes a story about standing out and standing up, of struggling with anxiety, self-esteem, and learning how to be yourself during the ups and downs of high school.

FINDING NORMAL

By Stephanie Faris
Imprint: Aladdin

For fans of Shelter and Take Back the Block, twelve-year-old Temple tries to help rebuild her home and her community after a horrific natural disaster.

When Temple's neighborhood floods following the worst hurricane on record, her entire neighborhood is destroyed. Temple's family is able to secure lodging, along with many in her community, from a motel across town, which means . . . she can no longer attend the school she's been at since kindergarten.

At the new school, Temple feels like a spotlight follows her everywhere: she's embarrassed about her donated clothes, she has no friends, and all she sees are kids with pity in their eyes whispering as she passes in the hall. And at home, things aren't any better.

When she sees a flyer for a local fundraiser, she has an idea: What if she can raise the money to rebuild her home?

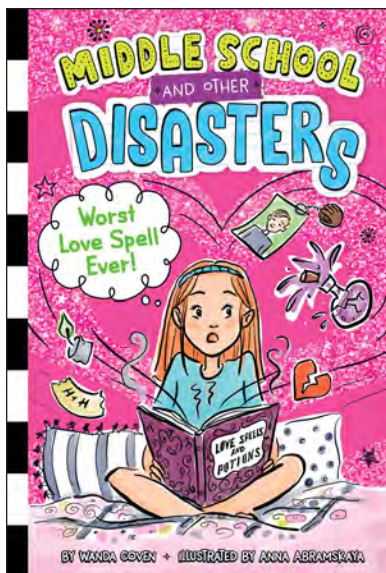

With the help of both a new friend and an old nemesis who seems to know everything, Temple kicks her plan into motion, quickly realizing that her parents aren't the only ones in need. Can Temple figure out how to find a new normal for herself and the community?

MAID FOR IT

By Jamie Sumner

Imprint: Atheneum Books for Young Readers

After her mom's car accident, Franny is determined to keep their fragile world intact and prevent her mom from relapsing in this deeply moving story.

Franny's had enough excitement for a lifetime. Now that she and her newly sober mom have moved to a cozy apartment above a laundromat, Franny's looking forward to a life where her biggest excitement is getting top grades in math class.

But when Franny's mom gets injured in a car accident, their fragile life begins to crumble. There's no way her mom can keep her job cleaning houses or pay the bills. Franny can't forget what happened the last time her mom was hurt: the pills that were supposed to help became an addiction, until rehab brought them to Mimi's laundromat and the support group she hosts.

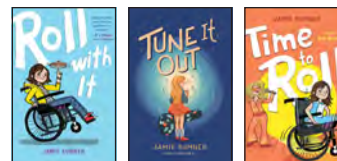

Franny will not let addiction win again, even if she has to blackmail a school rival to help her clean houses. She'll make the money and keep her mom sober—she has to. But what happens if this is one problem she can't solve?

CODE RED

By Joy McCullough

Imprint: Atheneum Books for Young Readers

In the spirit of Judy Blume, this empowering and heartfelt middle-grade novel celebrates finding yourself, making new friends, and standing up for what's right as a girl becomes involved in menstrual activism.

Ever since she had a career-ending injury, former elite gymnast Eden has been feeling lost. To add insult to actual injury, her mom has been invited to present at her middle school's career day, which would be fine except Mom's company produces period products like pads and tampons. Having the whole school hear about it is total humiliation. And when Eden gets into a fight with a boy who won't stop mocking her for it, she and her classmate Maribel both end up getting suspended.

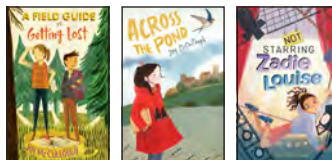

Mom's corporate executive job means she doesn't have time to look after Eden while she's suspended, so Eden is sent to volunteer at the food bank Maribel's mom runs. There she meets new friends who open her eyes to period poverty, the struggle that low-income people with periods have trying to afford menstrual products. Eden even meets a boy who gets periods. Witnessing how people fight for fair treatment inspires Eden to join the advocacy work.

But sewing pads to donate and pushing for free access to period products puts Eden at odds with her mom. Even so, Eden's determined to hold on to the one thing that's ignited her passion and drive since gymnastics. Can she stand her ground and make a real difference?

BLIGHT HARBOR: THE NIGHHOUSE KEEPER

By Lora Senf
Illustrated by Alfredo Cáceres
Imprint: Atheneum Books for Young Readers

In this thrilling sequel to The Clackity, Evie must once again enter an eerie otherworld to save Blight Harbor's ghosts, defeat the soulless menace threatening both worlds, and steal the only key that can open a door back home before she's trapped forever.

Evie Von Rathe has been home for only a few weeks from her last adventure, when Blight Harbor's beloved ghosts begin to disappear. Did they simply leave without saying goodbye, or has something gone horribly wrong? Soon Evie is invited to a mysterious council meeting, where she learns about the Dark Sun Side and a terrible secret.

It's true: the ghosts have gone missing. And that means serious trouble.

With the help of an eleven-year-old (or 111-year-old, but who's counting?) ghost named Lark, trusty Bird, and a plump ghost spider, Evie must find a way to defeat the vicious Nighthouse Keeper who's responsible for the missing ghosts, save her otherworldly friends, and find her way home from the Dark Sun Side before she's trapped there forever.

GALAXY JONES AND THE SPACE PIRATES

By Brianna McDonald
Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

From the author of Pepper's Rules for Secret Sleuthing and The Secrets of Stone Creek comes a new rip-roaring adventure about a girl who is determined to save the family business—even if it means travelling across the universe to do it.

Galaxy “Lexi” Jones lives on the very edge of a star system in an inn run by her dads. She loves her home and her little family, but ever since the train station that serviced their part of the universe went defunct, tourists have stopped coming, and Lexi's on the verge of losing it all.

When the royal family stops at their inn, her dads are hopeful that they'll bring some good business—but Lexi knows they're bringing nothing but trouble. That's trouble in the form of spoiled Prince Weston, whose last disastrous visit left her scrambling to wait hand and foot on him.

Turns out, that trouble is a whole lot bigger than she anticipated. Weston has stolen something. Even worse, he's stolen it from notorious pirates who have tracked him straight to her house. But Weston has lost the trinket somewhere in deep space. And now the pirates are holding all the adults hostage with the threat of destroying the inn.

Luckily for Weston, Lexi has a plan to help find whatever it is the pirates are after. With some pluck, and a whole lot of luck, she might just pull it off—and make an unexpected friend along the way.

REBECCA REZNIK REBOOTS THE UNIVERSE

By Samara Shanker
Imprint: Atheneum Books for Young Readers

In this gripping sequel to Naomi Teitelbaum Ends the World, Becca copes with family turmoil and what it means to be grown up when she discovers demons have invaded her home just in time for Hanukkah.

Rebecca Reznick is having a rough time.

Her dad's lost his job, and her parents are fighting all the time. Her obnoxious brother, Jake, is acting out and being even more mischievous than usual. And now that Becca's had her bat mitzvah, she's suddenly expected to be all grown up and spiritually mature—whatever that means. Becca doesn't like change, but there are some seriously rancid vibes coming from the Reznick house . . . haunted vibes.

When Becca discovers a (not) Hanukkah goblin that's turned her bedroom upside down, literally, she and her best friends Naomi and Eitan soon find themselves once more facing down demons and dybbuks. This time, they've mysteriously taken up residence in Becca's home. Or maybe they were sent by someone? Itchy magic, mazzikim, toilet demons—growing up has never been this hard.

THE HUNT FOR THE HOLLOWER

By Callie C. Miller
Imprint: Aladdin

In this imaginative riff on Arthurian legend, a wizardess who is still mastering her own powers must go on an epic quest to save her brother when he's kidnapped by an evil wizard called the Hollower. Perfect for fans of Adam Gidwitz and Amanda Foody!

Before departing the world, the great wizard Merlyn (yes, that Merlyn), prophesied that his great, great, seven-times-great-grandchild would be even more powerful than he. Generations later, twins are born (it's just like Merlyn to omit that detail), but which child is the Septimum Genus? Percy has the magical gift, while Merlynda's magic laughs at her as she explodes everything in sight.

When the twins attempt a forbidden spell to help Merlynda control her magic, Percy is swept through a portal to the In Between. Merlynda thinks she has blasted him into the hands of the Hollower, a legendary figure who is believed to steal magic.

Joined by her friends, Merlynda sets out through forests, over mountains, and to the bottom of the ocean as they attempt to rescue Percy.

THE BIRD OF A THOUSAND STORIES (W.T.)

By Kiyash Monsef

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

In this thrilling companion novel to the international sensation Once There Was, heroine Marjan travels the globe pursuing mythical animals—and being pursued by a villain of epic proportions.

Marjan Dastani is successfully leading a double life—for now. Only a few people close to her know that when she's not in school, she travels the world taking care of mythical beasts, sent on missions by a shadowy organization known as the Fells. She's on one of these jobs in Istanbul when some sinister-looking henchmen hunt her down and chase her across continents, just barely missing her in a series of narrow escapes. Someone is trying to capture Marjan. But what do they want from her?

Marjan must figure out how she and her friends fit into this civil war, and how it connects with the creatures themselves, who seem to be trying to send Marjan a message everywhere she goes. Her uncle tells her, "When one speaks, they are all speaking. Everything is speaking." But what are they saying? And why does it increasingly feel like they're trying to warn her that the entire world is in danger?

PRIDE AND PREJUDICE AND PITTSBURGH

By Rachael Lippincott

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

From the New York Times bestselling coauthor of Five Feet Apart and She Gets the Girl comes a fresh and inventive queer romantic comedy that is Freaky Friday meets What If It's Us with a sprinkling of Bridgerton.

Seventeen-year-old Audrey has lost her spark and artistic inspiration ever since she was dumped by her first love. She's now facing a long hot Pittsburgh summer working at the family's convenience store and an art-school-waitlist portfolio deadline that's never felt farther out of reach. But after Audrey has an embarrassing run-in with her ex and his new girlfriend—and a minor head injury—the local curmudgeon Mr. Montgomery says he can help her get her spark back and maybe even a new shot at love. Audrey doesn't know what she's expecting, but it's definitely not that she'll be transported more than two hundred years back in time to 1812 and the world of Regency romance.

Seventeen-year-old Lucy isn't expecting to find an oddly dressed girl on her property who claims to be from the future. But she has to admit it's a welcome distraction from being courted by a man her father expects her to marry, a man she couldn't be less interested in.

While the two girls try to understand what's happening and Audrey attempts to fit in, both of their sparks make a comeback in a most unexpected way. Because while they each try to fall for their suitors, Audrey and Lucy don't have to try at all to fall for each other. But can a most unexpected love story survive even more impossible circumstances?

CURIOUS TIDES

By Pascale Lacelle

Imprint: Margaret K. McElderry Books

Ninth House* meets The Hazel Wood in this gorgeous dark academia fantasy debut following a young mage who believes her secret drowned with her classmates—until their bodies start washing ashore.

Emory might be a student at the prestigious Aldryn College for Lunar Magics, but her healing abilities have always been mediocre at best—until a treacherous night in the Dovermere sea caves kills a group of classmates and leaves her as the only survivor. Since that night, Emory has been plagued by strange, impossible powers that no healer should possess. Powers that would ruin her life if the wrong person were to discover them.

With the help of her school's most reclusive student, Baz—a boy already well versed in the deadly nature of darker magic—Emory must gain control of her new abilities. She's determined to seek the truth behind the drownings and the cultlike secret society she's convinced her classmates were involved in, especially since one of those drowned classmates happened to be Baz's sister and her best friend. But her investigation is made all the more urgent when the supposedly drowned students start washing ashore—alive—only for them each to immediately die horrible, magical deaths.

Emory is not the only one seeking answers. When her new magic captures the society's attention, she finds herself drawn into their world of privilege and power, all the while wondering if the truth she's searching for might lead her right back to Dovermere . . . and turn her into its next victim.

Book two in this duology is scheduled for Fall 2024.

All of Us Villains* meets Kingdom of the Wicked in this thrilling fantasy adventure following a girl who enters a competition held by warring vampire and witch kingdoms with one goal: to deliver a vampire prince to the witches so they'll resurrect her dead sister.

Blood is survival for seventeen-year-old Bly, who lives in the poverty-stricken human villages caught between enemy vampire and witch kingdoms. Most of the time, vampires and witches live in an uneasy truce, buying human blood for their food and spells. But for two weeks a year, the truce dissolves, and they hold the Revenant Games.

Any human can play in the games for either the witches or the vampires. The witches will raise one person from the dead for whoever captures the highest-ranking vampire. The vampires offer immortality to whoever captures the most powerful witch. For most humans, the games are a ticket out of poverty. For Bly, it's a chance to get back her dead sister, Elise, and save the life of her dying best friend, Emerson.

Together, she and Emerson forge a dangerous plan to play both sides and win both prizes—resurrection for Elise and immortality for Emerson. But when the vampire they capture sparks a light in Bly that she hasn't felt in a long time, she'll have to make a choice: her sister, or the boy who's shown her there's more to life than just survival.

CONDITIONS OF A HEART

By Bethany Mangle
Imprint: Margaret K. McElderry Books

For fans of Rachael Lippincott and Adam Silvera comes a funny and unflinchingly honest story about a girl who must come to terms with her disability, and what it means for herself, her love life, and her future.

Brynn Kwan is desperate to be just like everyone else. Senior class president, reigning prom queen, head of the yearbook committee. If nobody at school knows about the series of disorders that have given her numerous health complications, they won't treat her any differently from her classmates, and that's exactly how she wants it. Brynn even ended her four-year relationship with her first love, Oliver, rather than risk his pity for her disability. Even if she and Oliver still have to work together on school projects, Brynn is determined to keep her distance.

But everything falls apart when Brynn tries to break up a fight in the school parking lot and winds up suspended and barred from all school activities. Without all the clubs that served as social armor, it feels like her disability is the only thing she has left. Well, that, and the range of opinions from everyone in her family about who she should be. But the truth is, Brynn is falling apart. Literally. With a sister who simply doesn't understand and an ex-boyfriend who keeps trying to reconnect, Brynn will have to decide how she wants to define herself going forward: to her family, to her classmates, and to Oliver.

ROSETTA ACADEMY #3: OF DREAMS AND DESTINY

By Sandhya Menon
Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

From the New York Times bestselling author of When Dimple Met Rishi comes the third installment in a series that's a contemporary spin on fairytales, set in an elite boarding school.

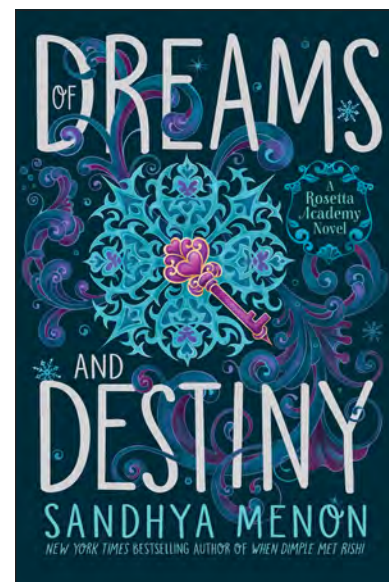

It's senior year, and Daphne Elizabeth "DE" McKinley, the heiress to the McKinley hotel dynasty, is still licking her wounds from a painful breakup. She's determined to keep her head down and her heart shuttered. And she's definitely not interested in getting to know new student Xander, no matter how swoony he is. Then Rosetta Academy is swallowed up by a sudden and massive spring storm, and very strange things start happening. The students start to fall into a stupor, then a deep sleep—one by one. Soon, DE is racing against the clock to find the source of the strange spell and stop it before it claims the entire school. Can Xander's help be the key to solving the mystery?

KINGDOM OF WITHOUT

By Andrea Tang

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

A wily young thief must use her wits to survive the hungry city she calls home in this Les Misérables-inspired cyberpunk novel that is perfect for fans of Six of Crows, The Gilded Wolves, and Fullmetal Alchemist.

When Zhong Ning'er takes the job, she expects a smash-and-grab burglary she's doing to make rent and help out a friend. What she doesn't expect: a sad-eyed army boy who dreams of insurrection, a former rebel leader trapped inside a secret lab, and a group of thieves who are first collaborators then compatriots, and then, perhaps, friends.

But this is Beijing, nearly a hundred and fifty years since General Yuan Shikai successfully declared himself the Emperor of China. His descendants rule the country from their seat in the imperial city, and their gendarmerie—the Beiyang Army—run the streets, aided by cyborgs and the Brocade Guard. Walls have risen, dividing the city into Rings—nominally only by geography but, in truth, by class. Earthquakes devastate the northern farmlands, crops drown in the southern typhoons, and all over the country people are hooked on a drug they call Complacency.

As a Sixth Ring girl who watched previous uprisings crushed brutally by the court, Ning'er isn't much of an optimist, and she's certainly no revolutionary. But that might not be up to her—as the stakes get higher, the time for passivity is quickly running out, and she must decide if she wants to sit idly in her cynicism or embrace the breathless, terrible possibility of hope.

BY ANY OTHER NAME

By Erin Cotter

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

This Shakespeare-era romp, perfect for fans of F.T. Lukens, follows an out-of-luck stage actor who must team up with an English lord in order to solve the shocking murder of Christopher Marlowe.

In 1593 London, sixteen-year-old Will makes his living on Shakespeare's stage, stuffing his corsets with straw, pretending to be someone he's not. But he's acting a part offstage, too—one his very life depends upon—and he must blend in, not starve, until he has the coin to return to his family and escape the Bloody Queen of England's wrath.

But Will's plans are ruined when his mentor, the famous playwright Christopher Marlowe, is murdered under mysterious circumstances. Will discovers that Marlowe was a spy for the queen, stalking an assassin rumored to be part of an ancient secret society. When Will intercepts an attempt on the queen's life, she chooses him as the next spymaster and promises heavy coin and grand estates—the chance to help his family.

But guarding the queen's life means not only defending the person responsible for his family's demise, it means teaming up with the young Lord James Bloomsbury, a man more obnoxious and handsome than he has any right to be, who harbors dark secrets of his own. Together, the two will have to hunt the elusive assassin, defend the queen's life, and avoid not losing their own as their forbidden feelings for each other ignite.

BETTING ON YOU

By Lynn Painter

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

A bet goes horribly wrong—or terribly right—in this swoonworthy romance from New York Times and USA Today bestselling author Lynn Painter. Perfect for fans of She’s All That and 10 Things I Hate About You.

The first time Bailey meets Charlie, he is the WORST.

Moving to Omaha after her parents’ sudden divorce, Bailey finds herself trapped for ten hours with this cynical and obnoxiously opinionated stranger, the polar opposite of her careful, well-behaved, cheery temperament. Bailey isn’t here for it, and wants nothing more but to ignore the pestering boy sitting next to her.

Fast forward a couple years later and guess who is her coworker at her new job at a hotel waterpark? Charlie. But this time around, they find themselves talking comfortably and even . . . laughing? Still, they agree they can’t stand each other, and when they witness two of their coworkers flirting, their commentary on the moment spirals into a bet on whether or not these two will get together.

But unbeknownst to Bailey, Charlie has made his own secret bet with a colleague—he will get Bailey, the leader of the anti-relationship movement, to go out with him.

Amid all their bickering and playful banter, Bailey and Charlie move forward with their bet while Charlie is working on his own plans, all the while helping Bailey separate her mother from her loser boyfriend. But every time it seems like something real is happening between Charlie and Bailey, they end up drifting apart. Bailey doesn’t have time for drama while dealing with her own family issues and these strange butterflies in her stomach because . . . OH NO, is she starting to have feelings for Charlie? Yes, they are getting closer and closer, texting each other night and day, with Bailey relying on Charlie more than anyone. But that’s just because he is a friend. Right?

Wrong, because for Charlie their relationship is starting to turn very, VERY serious.

SPELL BOUND

By F.T. Lukens

Imprint: Margaret K. McElderry Books

Two rival apprentice sorcerers must team up to save their teachers and protect their own magic in this lively young adult romantic adventure from the New York Times bestselling author of In Deeper Waters and So This Is Ever After.

Edison Rooker isn't sure what to expect when he enters the office of Antonia Hex, the powerful sorceress who runs a call center for magical emergencies. He doesn't have much experience with hexes or curses. Heck, he doesn't even have magic. But he does have a plan—to regain the access to the magical world he lost when his grandmother passed.

Antonia is . . . intimidating, but she gives him a job and a new name—Rook—both of which he's happy to accept. Now all Rook has to do is keep his Spell Binder, an illegal magical detection device, hidden from the Magical Consortium. And contend with Sun, the grumpy and annoyingly cute apprentice to Antonia's rival colleague, Fable. But dealing with competition isn't so bad as Sun seems to pop up more and more, and Rook minds less and less.

But when the Consortium gets wind of Rook's Spell Binder, they come for Antonia. All alone, Rook runs to the only other magical person he knows: Sun. Except Fable has also been attacked, and now Rook and Sun have no choice but to work together to get their mentors back . . . or face losing their magic forever.

HOLLOW STAR SAGA #3: A GRIM AND SUNKEN VOW

By Ashley Shuttleworth

Imprint: Margaret K. McElderry Books

The captivating third book in the Hollow Star Saga! The Cruel Prince meets City of Bones in this thrilling urban fantasy series following a queer cast of characters—a half-fae outcast, a temperamental ex-Fury, a fae prince and his brooding bodyguard—who find themselves in the middle of a war between the mortal and immortal realms.

After the events of the Summer Solstice, life in the magical fae world has irrevocably changed.

Caught in the cruel clutches of their new High Queen, who has the entirety of the Eight Great Courts now under her control, Arlo and her friends must do what it takes to survive in a world of Riadne's devising. In order to prevent the queen's terrifying final plans from coming to fruition, they'll have to play Riadne's game on her level and risk becoming the very worst version of themselves in the process.

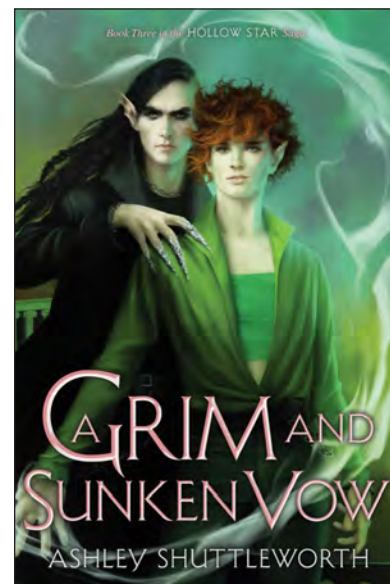

Hero or villain? Which will they choose—and what will be the cost?

UGLIES

By Scott Westerfeld

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

A young girl begins to question her picture-perfect world in this first installment of Scott Westerfeld's New York Times bestselling and award-winning Uglies series—a global phenomenon.

Tally is about to turn sixteen, and she can't wait. In just a few weeks she'll have the operation that will turn her from a repellent ugly into a stunningly attractive pretty. And as a pretty, she'll be catapulted into a high-tech paradise where her only job is to have fun.

But Tally's new friend Shay isn't sure she wants to become a pretty. When Shay runs away, Tally learns about a whole new side of her world—and it isn't very pretty. The authorities offer Tally a choice: find her friend and turn her in or always be an ugly. Tally's decision leads her on a journey of self-discovery and first love—but it's the seeds of rebellion that will change her life and her world forever.
